

WHY ARE BRAIDS SO EXPENSIVE ?

By: Ja'kayla Taylor

This following article will discuss the reason why braids are so expensive. Two reasons why braids are so expensive is because the actual braiding hair costs a lot of money, like real human hair is expensive. Which is very different from synthetic hair (conversation for another day). Braids have to use various products, which can be costly on the braider.

Did you know that braids are so expensive because of the actual hair? Some braiders tend to buy the hair which is usually $100 to $300, due to them buying multiple packs. This can impact the cost significantly, compared to a simple style with real hair. Can you believe it? I would rather purchase my own hair, am I right? Like goddess braids which usually cost $170 to $200! Some braiders charge up to $500 to $950, I know right, that's too much! Did you know that some braiders cost more just because they have more experiences than others?

People always wonder how to choose the right braider. From what I gathered, it is always best to visit a braider that is still learning. Trust me, it is a win/win for both. They will be able to receive better service and their prices are reasonable. My perspective from all my reasons that I stated above are that braiders shouldn't charge so much for braids, at least be reasonable.
